IDS exclusively represents Martinelli Luce in India, showcasing lighting fixtures that are not only functional but also interactive pieces of art. Their latest offering, Multidot, designed by Brian Sironi for Martinelli Luce, is a modern approach to a classic chandelier, blending tradition with innovation.

Multidot draws inspiration from the grandeur of historical chandeliers while embracing modern design elements and technology. This lamp is a chameleon of design, its cables with their 'stapled' luminous spheres making it capable of changing from a formal and refined illuminating ornament to a slender and modern lamp. A union of memory and modernity.

The sophisticated design of Multidot is a testament to Martinelli Luce's heritage and IDS's dedication to innovation. This lighting fixture not only illuminates spaces but also becomes a central conversation piece, captivating onlookers with its artistic charm. It's a striking example of how decorative lighting can transcend its conventional role to become an integral part of interior design.

With Multidot, IDS continues to set new standards in decorative lighting, merging timeless beauty with forward-thinking design. As a versatile piece that resonates with both tradition and modernity, it is sure to leave a lasting impression in any setting.
