The Bolle Collection by Innovative Design Studio by IDG

2 MINS READ

IDS by Innovative Design Group announces the arrival of the Bolle Collection by Giop. Coombes, a mesmerizing fusion of light and transparency, where delicate glass spheres and brass elements come together to create a poetic illumination experience.

Project Name: The Bolle Collection

Studio Name: Innovative Design Studio by IDG

Conceived during a tranquil walk surrounded by floating soap bubbles, the collection encapsulates the lightness and immateriality of light itself. Each lamp is meticulously handcrafted in transparent glass, with a brass light source suspended gracefully between the spheres, as if floating mid-air. The interplay between the luminous core and the glass surfaces creates an enchanting dance of reflections, bringing a touch of magic to space.

The transparent version of the collection invites light to flow seamlessly, multiplying its brilliance while subtly interacting with the surrounding environment. This collection is more than just lighting – it's a celebration of craftsmanship, imagination, and the beauty of ethereal forms.

Available in various configurations—including linear, circular, and cascading chandeliers.

the collection caters to both residential and hospitality spaces transforming ordinary spaces into dreamlike environments.

Each Bolle Transparent piece is handmade in Italy, using traditional glassblowing techniques passed down through generations of Venetian artisans. The result is a light object that balances the contemporary with the timeless, sophistication with lightness
