ARCHITI and INTERIORS

hot-air balloons drifting gracefully through the sky, each piece is a celebration of timeless design and sculptural presence. At its heart lies the exquisite union of two independent glass sections, seamlessly merging to create the illusion of an integral whole – a technical and artistic triumph.

The collection is defined by its lavishly scaled hand-blown glass domes, within which an elegant hand-pressed metal reflector appears to float effortlessly. This striking interplay of transparency and solidity enhances both the luminous quality and the sculptural beauty of the design. The sheer size of the largest shade challenges the very limits of traditional glassblowing, standing as a testament to the unparalleled mastery of Bohemian glassmakers.

Offered in three sizes, small, medium, and large, the collection holds a distinguished place within the Brokis portfolio. Whether illuminated or at rest, these lights transcend their function, transforming into sculptural statements that enrich interiors with both presence and poetry.
